

DLA Piper launches its Global Litigation Guide

DLA Piper has launched its Global Litigation Guide, a comparative online guide to some of the intricacies of civil litigation in 30 jurisdictions worldwide, intended to be an invaluable resource for clients.

The Guide has been launched in response to a growing need from DLA Piper's global clients and has universal relevance to all companies that have operations in more than one country. It includes, for example, the ability to make comparisons of court systems in separate jurisdictions, highlights differences in the discovery process and approaches to class actions.

The online guide will be updated on a regular basis to ensure that the information remains accurate and relevant. If you are interested in additional jurisdictions which are not included in the Guide, please contact us directly.
